Greece...

... "A sky exceptionally blue and clear, a sea from which one after the other rose the islands of the Archipelago. Your glance can never be lost in infinity. There is always a point where it can rest: a mountain, an island, a line, here clear-cut, there more remote, drowned out by a lambent haze. The sun rises triumphal over this magical landscape and then sets in a glory of colour and light. A sunset in the Greek Archipelago, a time when volumes are drawn one behind the other, diaphanous and crisp, is one of the rare gifts of the Gods...

This is the land blessed by the Gods, where they were born at the dawn of civilization, where they still live. Luminous and dazzling, these deities of sea, sun and hills, lived on a human scale, on mythical Mount Olympus. And when the twilight hour arrived for them, they gained a second immortality through Homer's epic poetry...

There are also beautiful mountains. Starting from Pindos, the spine that runs through Continental Greece, many mountain ranges branch off, shaped of rock, small fists that cover almost the entire country, until they either fall suddenly into the Aegean Sea or elsewhere roll gently into the sea tumbling down into sand dunes. The Muses lived on Mount Parnassus. Pan inhabited Arcadia. Dense forests hid nymphs and Hamadryads. During the summer, a traveller will encounter alpine landscapes, verdant forests, ravines with a wild beauty. In the winter countless valleys offer wonderful places for skiing and all sorts of winter sports... Where the beauty, magnitude and grace of this land is covered by buildings from the most beautiful civilisation known by the world, from the Minoan Age of Crete and the Mycenaean Age to the Byzantine Era, running through the glory that is the Classical Age. Here lies King Minos' palace, there a Doric temple, an ancient outdoor theatre, a prophecy, a Byzantine church... It offers much more: renowned spa towns with wonderful metallic waters. Loutraki, Aedipsos, Methana, Ypati, Kammena Vourla, Kaiaphas, where there are first class facilities for baths, grand hotels, exceptional locations for wonderful excursions..."

"The art of the poster, its dynamic form, lies not solely in fists or diagonal lines. It isn't the use of reds, greens, blacks and those "national" blue tones. It is an emotional and attractive layout. It is being "different" every time."
