Effective 20 April, Air Canada requires all customers to wear cloth coverings or masks over their mouth and nose while at check-in, during the boarding process and during flight on its aircraft.

WestJet

On 10 May, WestJet extended its temporary transborder (United States, including Hawaii) and international (Europe, Mexico, Caribbean, Central America) route suspensions through 25 June.

As of 20 April, WestJet requires that all passengers have a non-medical mask or face covering to cover their mouth and nose during travel.

Air Transat

Suspension of all flights until 30 June.

Porter Airlines

Suspension of all flights until 29 June.

Sunwing

Sunwing is extending the temporary suspension of all flights until 25 June.

Caribbean Airlines

As a result of decisions by the governments of Trinidad & Tobago and Jamaica to halt all international commercial flights, there are a number of changes to their services:

ANNEX II

- Jamaica – all Caribbean Airlines passenger services have ceased on 21 March
- Trinidad – all other international Caribbean Airlines passenger services have ceased on 22 March
- Services between Trinidad and Tobago will continue to operate on an adjusted schedule

The domestic air bridge between Trinidad and Tobago is operating a reduced schedule from 24 March.

Air France

Due to increasing travel restrictions, and faced with a sharp decline in demand, Air France has reduced their flight capacity by up to 90%. The flight schedule of May is now up to date for all destinations. For the summer period, the flight schedule will be updated at the beginning of June. Following the closure of Paris-Orly airport, Air France has transferred all the scheduled flights to Paris-Charles de Gaulle airport.

Air France has also announced that only customers authorized at the border or in transit may be boarded on their flights. As of 17 March, France applies specific entry measures to travelers. Only the following passengers will be allowed to board flights to France:

- Citizens of EU as well as citizens of Great Britain
- Family members of EU and Great Britain Nationals
- Residents of the European Union and Great Britain
- Nationals of other countries only if they have a connection to a country outside the EU

Air France advises that upon arrival in metropolitan France or its overseas departments, a passenger must be able to present a certificate of exceptional travel to the authorities in charge of border control. This also applies if one has a flight connection in France. The certificate is available here: <https://www.interieur.gouv.fr/Actualites/L-actu-du-Ministere/Attestation-de-deplacement-et-de-voyage>

As of 11 May, the wearing of masks are mandatory on board of Air France aircraft.

With respect to Canada, Air France is operating 3 flights a week, from Montreal to Paris, on Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday. This schedule is in place for the coming weeks. Air France continues to operate scheduled flights at reduced frequencies to the following destinations:

- Metropolitan France: Marseille, Nice, Toulouse
- Overseas Departments: Cayenne, Fort-de-de-France, Pointe-à-Pitre, Saint-Denis de La Réunion
- Europe: Amsterdam, Athens, Barcelona, Berlin, Dublin, Edinburgh, Frankfurt, Geneva, Lisbon, London, Madrid, Munich, Stockholm, Zurich
- Africa: Cotonou, Dakar, Abidjan (other destinations under consideration)
- North America: New York, Los Angeles, Montreal, Mexico City
- South America: Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo
- Asia: Tokyo

KLM

KLM has announced a significant decrease of their scheduled flights. With respect to Canada, KLM is now operating 3 times per week the Toronto-Amsterdam route (Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday). The Swiss will partially restart its flight operations in June and plans to operate up to 190 flights from Zurich and Geneva to 41 European destinations. The ramp-up will follow in stages, and the range of flights available will gradually be increased over the weeks ahead.

Swiss will resume services to various Mediterranean destinations, including Malaga, Barcelona, Madrid and Valencia in Spain and Brindisi, Florence, Naples and Rome in Italy. Connections to Scandinavia are also being increased with flights to Gothenburg in Sweden and Copenhagen in Denmark. SWISS will also be adding further major European destinations to its programme, such as Paris (France), Brussels (Belgium) and Moscow (Russia). The existing services to Amsterdam (Netherlands), Athens (Greece), Berlin (Germany), Lisbon (Portugal), London (UK), Porto (Portugal) and Stockholm (Sweden) will be expanded.

Swiss will also be offering its long-haul customers new intercontinental direct connections in June, in addition to its three weekly services to New York / Newark (USA). Swiss plans to offer flights from Zurich to New York JFK (4 times weekly), Chicago (twice weekly), Singapore (once weekly), Bangkok (once weekly), Tokyo (twice weekly), Mumbai (three times weekly), Hong Kong (twice weekly) and Johannesburg (once weekly). No plans to resume flights to Canada for the time being.

As of 4 May, Swiss is recommending wearing a mouth-nose face covering on board all flights for protection against SARS CoV2 transmission. The airline also advises use of a face covering at the airport before or after flights, whenever required social distancing cannot be adequately observed. The recommendation will initially apply until 31 August.

British Airways and Iberia

IAG, owner of British Airways and Iberia, announced that the group's flight capacity would be reduced by 75% during April and May. With respect to Canada, flights have been suspended at the end of March.

Resumption of British Airways flights on the YYZ/LHR (Toronto) route is not expected before June. For more accurate info, British Airways should be contacted directly.
